Julie Pickren: A Passionate State Board of Education Member for District 7 Championing Texas Education and Community Development

Houston, Texas - Julie Pickren, currently serving as the State Board of Education Member for District 7, continues her unwavering commitment to advancing education and supporting community growth in Texas. Born and raised in Houston, Texas, and now residing in Manvel, Texas, with her husband David and their two children, Julie's dedication to her community and state exemplifies her role as a public servant.

Biography

Texas native Julie Pickren has dedicated her life to her family and community through active engagement and service. As a small business owner, she, alongside her husband, has made significant contributions to local charities, supported Christian churches in minority areas, and invested in real estate to provide affordable housing for Native American Indians.

Educational Leadership

Julie's tenure in educational leadership includes roles as a Board Member at Heritage Christian Academy, a current Board Member of Fresh Impact Christian Academy, and most notably, her ongoing service as an Alvin ISD Trustee from 2015-2021. Her term witnessed substantial progress, including the inauguration of 9 new schools and a notable reduction in property tax rates, showcasing her dedication to both fiscal responsibility and the enhancement of educational facilities. Under her guidance, Alvin ISD celebrated many achievements, including offering some of the highest salaries for teachers in Texas and allocating a significant majority of the district's budget to classroom-related expenses.

Upholding Education and Conservative Values in District 7

In her role as the State Board of Education Member for District 7, Julie Pickren advocates for an education system that champions both academic excellence and the infusion of Texas Values. She supports a diverse approach to education, recognizing the individual needs of students across home school, private, charter, and public education systems. Julie's dedication extends beyond education; she actively supports conservative values, contributing to the Republican Party's growth in Brazoria County and influencing policy at both state and national levels. Her current initiatives include collaborating with the Texas Legislature to enact legislation that removes Critical Race Theory from Texas's educational curriculum, emphasizing unity and shared American values.

A Future Vision for Texas Education

Representing District 7, Julie Pickren is committed to nurturing an education system that not only prepares students for future successes but also instills in them a profound respect for communal and national values. Her leadership is marked by a steadfast commitment to educational excellence, fiscal prudence, and the empowerment of Texas's teachers and students.

Supporting Quotes

"As the State Board of Education Member for District 7, I am dedicated to fostering an educational environment that equips our children for the challenges of the future, ensuring they inherit a legacy of strength, unity, and pride in our Texas values." - Julie Pickren
